

The New Supervisor

A two day workshop for people new to the role of supervisor and who wish to understand what is expected of their role and how to make a difference straight away.

Workshop Overview

This practical workshop develops skills in leading and supervising small or large groups. Through a combination of theory, groups and individual exercises, you will understand how to manage confidently and achieve the goals and targets set for the group. This is especially useful to new managers with limited experience.

Topics which are included are:

- Analysing your leadership skills
- Leadership styles
- Leadership behaviours
- Motivating staff
- Communication skills
- Influencing skills
- Empathy
- Emotional Intelligence
- Setting goals
- Effective delegation
- Managing performance
- Giving feedback
- 5 Coaching steps
- Conflict resolution
- Managing discipline issues
- Personal action plan

In House Training

Acorn can provide this workshop in-house to your team. This workshop can be tailored to suit your people's skill levels and type of work. Please call John Gleeson to discuss your requirements.

Testimonials

The best thing about this workshop was the applicability of tools in the workplace. I am greatly motivated to take action.

- Janene Hallpike, Hassall & Associates International

This workshop gave me lots of opportunities to raise issues that I was currently dealing with in the workplace. The training was very good.

- Kristina Williams, AusIndustry, DITR

Small number of attendees allowed for excellent discussion.

- Alicia Costello, DEST

The open dialogue and discussion led by the group was great. The openness of the teacher and his willingness to be steered by our individual needs was excellent.

- Jane Ambrose, DEWHA

I learned a lot about how to present myself to others and how to identify my strengths and weaknesses.

- Karen Dalli, Defence

The willingness to tailor the training to the group needs.

- Larissa Guyer – DAFF
- The content, case studies and discussions, the explanation of leadership, Emotional Intelligence and positive psychology - Marilyn Walter – IP Australia
